OVEX Global to Offer Information Technology Services Through On-Shore, Off-Shore Hybrid Model

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- En Pointe Technologies, Inc. (Nasdaq: ENPT - News), a leading national provider of business-to-business information technology products, services and solutions, today announced it has launched its campaign to market business process outsourcing services. The marketing campaign will be executed by Ovex Global, a newly formed division of En Pointe Technologies, Sales Inc. The service offering related to this initiative can be viewed on the web at www.ovexglobal.com.

Kevin Schatzle, En Pointe's Senior Vice President of Sales and Services will manage the sales and operations for this initiative. "We believe that we are unique because we have the systems and infrastructure of a top tier player but the flexibility and agility of a nimble firm," said Schatzle. "We are focusing on leveraging our internal resources to deliver what we know best, information technology solutions. This on-shore, off-shore business model makes us a versatile solution provider and offers our customers high quality services at a substantial cost reduction."

Ovex Global will initially offer information technology solutions in three main categories: asset management, user support and availability and security services. Specific services include wireless telecom device management (part of TEM, telecom expense management) and remote desktop management. These services will be delivered by an off-shore team that is part of En Pointe's subsidiary, Ovex Technologies (Private) Limited.

"While companies such as Tata Consulting, Infosys, Wipro, and Unisys continue to deliver information technology solutions for the world's biggest multi-national enterprises, Ovex Global intends to focus its offerings on mid-market and enterprise level customers in the United States," added Omar Saeed, CEO of Ovex Technologies (Private) Limited. "We have been successful in supporting U.S. customers of various sizes and in various industries. En Pointe has built a reputation in the U.S. as an innovative service provider for more than a decade. Ovex Global intends to build on this reputation and offer services that support the operations of information technology organizations through this hybrid delivery model."

Richard Emil, Vice President of Services for En Pointe noted, "En Pointe continues to transform its Managed Service model and remains committed to implement complementary enhancements thereby affording our clients with infrastructure management cost reductions. The integration of Ovex Global ensures our customers of continuity and central accountability throughout the call management process and end user experience."
